

This is becoming a common exciting result - With "Bad bug attack Season" coming up we're happy to share "coincidences" like this.

Dennis & Ruth TESTIMONY ON LACTOFERRIN

My husband Michael came down with that H1N1 Swine flu. He was immediately ill with a fever and his lungs so congested he was coughing uncontrollably. For three days he was in bed and miserable and he continued coughing for weeks.

During his convalescence he used the Bi-Axial Mag Boy on his chest and wore magnets. They helped clear out the congestion and made him feel much better. It wasn't until later he learned how effective Lactoferrin is in fighting viruses (of course we know that any effectiveness we might have with nutritionals is purely coincidental).

About a week later, I felt something hit my throat and lungs hard. I took 5 Lactoferrin capsules like Mike told me to do. I went through the whole illness in three days feeling just a little puny and achy. I coughed one day (but oh what a cough, you'd have thought I was raising the dead! Then it was gone! No cough. No aches. If only Mike had known about Lactoferrin's coincidental effect on a sick body.

Today for a few hours I felt the achy blahs trying to rain on my parade. I took three Lactoferrin --- and another amazing coincidence --- I felt strong. It felt like the sun just came out. The aches are gone tonight. I've never been one to do drugs for the high they give. I just can't see why anyone would play around with their body like that. But I'm determined to make Lactoferrin a treat I give myself whenever I am feeling under the weather. It's been a real high for me when I've taken it in the increased doses. It's wonderful.

Is Mike still coughing ??? Yes. But he's at the tail end of his flu. Typical of him, he wants to save the Lactoferrin for me. Since I've been sick for so long with a combination of painful disabilities, (ten years in a wheelchair) he wants me to have all the Nikken I need. He takes the nutritionals. But he insists I have all I need.

I think of what might have happened he hadn't told me about the Lactoferrin. It now has a permanent place as part of our winter wellness plan.
